Lisbon Earthquake - Nov. 1, 1755

Three shocks over a 10 minute period reaching an intensity of 9.0 Richter scale.

Waves were generated off the coast at Cadiz and produced a 60' tsunami.

The mountains in Portugal were shaken, the tops of some of them broke off, split open and flames shot out of them.

The sound of thunder was heard underground and the greater part of Lisbon was thrown to the ground.

Some of the fissures that opened up were 15 miles wide.

In 60 seconds 60K were killed by the shockwaves, 90K died in Lisbon alone.

Shockwaves were felt around the world, even partially destroying cities in Africa.

The Dark Day May 19, 1780

Unexplained darkening of the day in North America that caused businesses to close, birds to go to sleep, and candles to be lit to see. Animals went into their sleep routines, only the humans knew it was the middle of the day.

Connecticut legislature was in session and pretty much everybody had the opinion that the day of judgement was at hand. They stopped conducting business until Colonel Davenport said if the judgement is here he would like to be found doing his duty and to bring candles to work. This was event was officially recorded.

The Moon became as Blood

Though at nine o'clock that night the moon rose to the full, "it had not the least effect to dispel the deathlike shadows." After midnight the darkness disappeared, and the moon, when first visible, had the appearance of blood. {GC 307.4}
